The Independent Drugstore Plan to Cut Health Spending:

...new laws to help them raise prescription drug prices?

It's no joke. The Independent Drugstore Lobby wants new laws that will make drug costs skyrocket. Granting them new powers to collectively bargain for higher prices, evade routine, anti-fraud audits and stifle competition will raise costs, not lower them. Besides, independent pharmacies don't need the help. According to their own research, pharmacy profits have doubled since 1999.

Policymakers deserve real solutions, not more special interest funny business. Learn how Pharmacy Benefit Managers, or PBMs, are working to make prescription drugs affordable for more than 200 million Americans at www.pcmanet.org.
